- Brangelina stalkers neglected to go west Friday night. The supercouple spent over three hours at Queen West's historic warehouse space The Burroughes Building for the Moneyball afterparty. Brad Pitt, Angelina Jolie on his arm, sauntered in as only a few fans lurked outside. "That's the first time I've been able to walk comfortably through the front door of a venue in a decade," Pitt told a party guest.

- After their comedy Salmon Fishing In The Yemen was wildly embraced at the premiere Saturday night, Emily Blunt and Ewan McGregor had dinner at Brasserie Lipp where chef Chris Kalisperas cooked—what else?—salmon.

- Celebs who love celebs convened at Grey Goose Soho House on Saturday night, where Ryan Gosling caught up with former co-star Kirsten Dunst, George Clooney bonded with Bono, and Kelra Knightley spent quality time with boyfriend James Righton.

- No film? No problem. Collin Farrell, in Toronto filming Total Recall, was taking it easy Saturday afternoon in a back booth at Azure while his fellow celebrities did their TIFF press rounds.
